

Arnley Map

This is the second map I've done with CD2, and it represents a small walled village in the area of the Torn Highlands.

Enclosed is the map Arnley.FCW, a depiction of the Ghonshire walled village of Arnley. The village itself is small, sheltering no more than 1,000 souls.

Arnley is a paranoid village, distrustful of travellers and foreigners of any sort. It is garrisoned by some 50 regular troops--actually a high number when compared to the village's overall population. The remainder of the residents, however, are typically skilled in some defensive talents, so nearly all able-bodied individuals (male and female) are technically members of the settlement's militia. Added to this is Arnley's population of itinerant adventurers, which numbers up to a score of individuals at any given time.
